

October 3rd, 2009 – Lean-Sigma Yellow Belt Certification

Steven Bonacorsi

Lean Six Sigma Director

Senior Master Black Belt Instructor

<http://www.linkedin.com/in/stevenbonacorsi>

Sponsored by Institute of Industrial Engineers (IIE)

Add Lean Six Sigma Yellow Belt Training and Certification to your Resume or Job Skills. Learn topics from one of the original Master Black Belts and world experts on Value Stream Mapping, 5s, Process Capability, Deployment Planning, Roles and Responsibilities, Control Plans and more.

*Certificates will be signed for all who complete the 1 day training session.

*No registrations or payments will be accepted on the day of the event.

When: Saturday, October 3rd, 2009 8:00am – 5:00pm

- 7:30am: Networking and Sign-in
- 12:00 - 1:00pm: Lunch & Personal Time (Attendees will provide their own lunch)
- 5:00pm: Post-session networking

Where: Northeastern University Campus, Boston, MA

Why:

- Earn credentials and distinguish yourself from other job candidates
- Learn about Lean, 6 Sigma, Lean-Six Sigma, and their differences from a world expert
- Understand why and how Lean-Sigma is so important with the current state of the economy
- Get a head start on your Green or Black Belt certification – many certification bodies accept Yellow Belt training hours
- Learn Lean-Sigma from an expert who has helped hundreds of companies and gain practical experience from an expert in the field!

How Much:

- $50.00 – Student or Unemployed, IIE Member
- $75.00 – Student, non-IIE member
- $100.00 – Professional, IIE Member
- $125.00 – Professional, non-IIE Member

Date: October 3rd Time: 8:00am – 5:00pm Place: TBD